Committee To Ask Chamber To Seek Election On Issue

The Truckee Donner Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, headed by Dr. Ben King next Wednesday will recommend to the chamber that it will proceed with necessary steps to bring the important question before the voters.

The meeting of the chamber will be held at noon on Wednesday at Smart's and those in favor or against the action are asked to be present to determine the wishes of the membership.

The committee met last Wednesday at Donner Lake Lodge to discuss the proposition and decided to make the recommendation based on the feasibility report recently submitted by Robert O. Bailey, administrative consultant.

In his report, Bailey recommended that the area, including Truckee and Donner Lake, be incorporated, the boundaries of the proposed city to include boundaries of the Truckee Public Utility District. He offered the suggestion that the district, in event the incorporation vote carries, be included as a part of the city.

Bailey made a complete report of his findings and while his figures are more or less tentative in nature, they provide a basis from which the committee can further study the possibilities and feasibility of incorporating the area.

Facts which the report gave without question or speculation were that by means of incorporation the Truckee-Donner Lake area:

1.—Could regulate many of its own local activities without legislative approval of Nevada County.

2.—Could establish new services for the community to the extent it was willing to pay for them.

3.—Could, in some cases, receive a higher level of service than presently received with an overall decrease in cost for some and a reasonable increase in cost for others.

The watch was a gift from his father and the ring from a girl friend both of whom are in Korea. He will leave for UCLA in February where he is studying in political science.

A nice New Year's note from Frances Revett Wallace who is spending the winter in San Francisco. However, it was distressing to know that she had been hospitalized for a week. Speedy recovery, Frances, and best for the New Year.

Missing the snow storm was Bill Greenrod of Crystal Bay, Jim Kelley and Adam Miltonberger of Reno, who all went to San Diego deep sea fishing. Understand that Miltonberger caught the biggest fish.

The Stan Grays are back at Tahoe Vista after a sojourn in the bay area.

The Charles Hanks of Kings Beach are highly happy over the birth of a granddaughter to their daughter and her husband, Rosemary and Wally Horell of Napa. Terry Lynn was Born January 8

There's talk up and down the Coast about the bank for action

They're talking about the bank that went coastwide by adding a big Los Angeles office to its tri-state system; the bank now constructing a multi-story Head Office Building in San Francisco; the bank which purchased a block in downtown Portland for a new building; the 100-year-old bank whose assets just topped one billion dollars; the bank that takes prompt, decisive action — for its customers and for itself.

NEW MEDICAL PLAN SLATED TO START

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — California's new private hospital and medical insurance program, Western 65, will start its service with 60 of the nation's leading insurance companies participating, it was announced today.

A. B. Halverson, president of the new organization, said the 60 companies have resources in excess of $79 billion, and represent more than three-fourths of the total accident and health insurance currently written by private companies in Calfiornia.

The new concern operates under an enabling law passed by the 1963 state legislature, which permits them to pool resources and share risks for the new program.

The hospital and medical insurance program will be available to persons who have passed their 65th birthday.

It was adopted to enable private insurance to take on the job, at least partially, of protecting the elderly from the hazards of illness and hospital attendance.

"The fact that 60 of the nation's oldest and most respected insurance companies are pooling their resources and experience for this undertaking is clear evidence of the broad industry support for the Western 65 concept," Halverson declared.

Oklahoma City, with average winds of 14 miles per hour, is the nation's windiest city.

Crippled Boy Wins Sports Letters With Assist from March of Dimes

A boy who can scarcely walk because of arthritis wins a letter in athletics.

Impossible, you say. Not if the lad has the grit of Tim Ewald.

Even though this 17-year-old from Minneapolis can barely "inch" along with the help of a cane, he wears the monogram of Golden Valley High School in both football and track.

How come? How is all this athletic activity possible when it takes this likable youngster as much as 15 minutes merely to tie his shoelaces?

You must look back seven years to find the answer. As the second-oldest of five sons, Tim at the age of 10 could outrun all his brothers and even his parents, Graydon and Diane Ewald.

At touch football, no one could lay a hand on him. Tim dreamed of a high school and college career in football and track.

Then, at the age of 10, came disaster. One night the boy was struck by the indescribably severe pains of rheumatoid arthritis throughout his body. His temperature soared. For long months he had to be hospitalized in body casts and treated with cortisone.

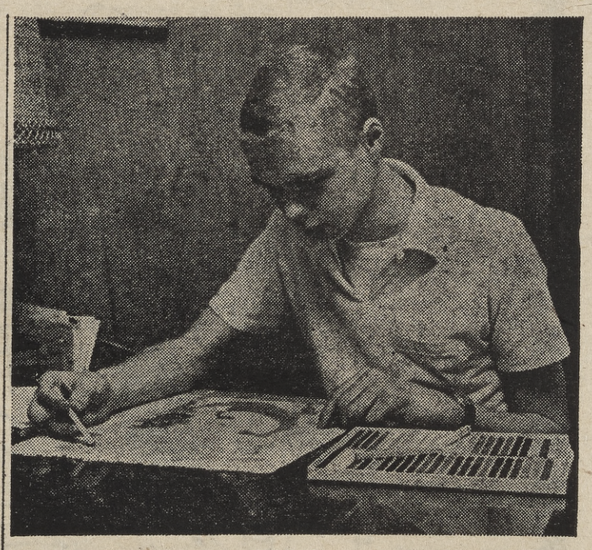
Aided by March of Dimes

Now, after seven years of the disease, Tim is slowly regaining some mobility—thanks in great part to physical therapy given him at the March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center in the University of Minnesota Medical School. This treatment is conscientiously repeated at home.

Much as the boy yearned to play, such strenuous sports as football and track were not for him. It was all he could do just to hobble from class to class. But in his freshman year at high school he resolved to be as close to sports as his crippled condition permitted.

Tim made a private vow that he would become a team manager.

He made it in his freshman year as manager of the football squad. He made it again in his sophomore year. Last year, his third, he managed the track team. He won his letters in two sports.



To continue working in the field of sports, even though he can't join actively because of crippling rheumatoid arthritis, Tim Ewald, 17, hopes to become a sports cartoonist. Here he outlines caricature of a sports personality. His doctors at March of Dimes Arthritis Center say this is good therapy for his hands and wrists.

Tim won't talk much about what his duties are. He's an excessively modest youngster but, even if it does embarrass the boy, his father says:

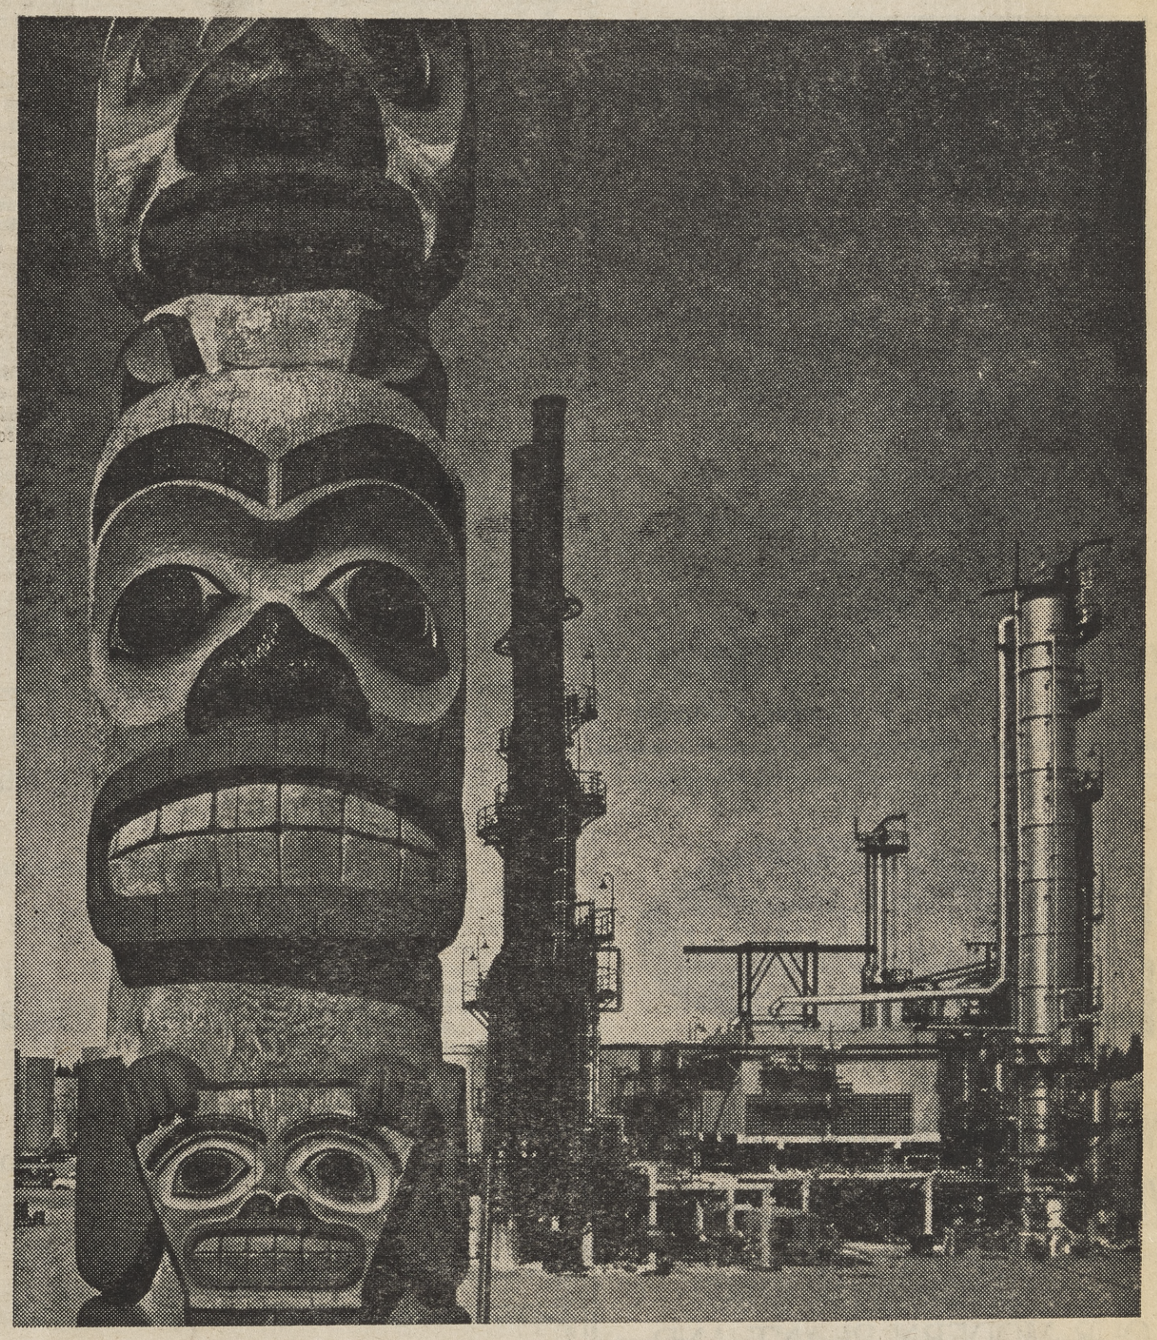
"I looked into this with some care because it would be dangerous for Tim to overdo. I found out that these managerships aren't snap jobs given by the players to a classmate they feel sorry for. The work is tough—Tim goes along in the team bus to games all around the state, he checks equipment and keeps the players' records, he's a timekeeper, and so on. But he thrives on it—and it's far better therapy than gnawing his nails because of no contact with sports."

Even with his heavy schedule of classes, homework, team management, home exercises and weekly visits to the March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center, Tim finds time to draw, chiefly cartoons and caricatures for which he seems to have promising talent. He thinks that someday he might like to be a sports cartoonist.

Faces Surgery

Will he walk again normally? It's quite possible. This year, after graduation from high school, he may undergo hip surgery. Dr. Keith N. Drummond, assistant director of the March of Dimes center, explains that Tim's hips are now locked in a bent position caused by contraction of the tendons and muscles and by inflammation of the hip joints. Under favorable circumstances, surgery could release and lengthen these shortened tissues.

Whether crippled for life or on his feet again, which now seems likely, Tim is determined to continue working actively in sports. That's about all he'll say. But you know that this quiet and resolute youngster means it.



The only totem pole we ever bought

Strange purchase? You'd be surprised at all that Standard buys...and where!

The totem pole, carved by Chilkat Indians for our new Alaskan Refinery—Alaska's first refinery—depicts the story of oil in the 49th State.

While it's one of the most unusual purchases we ever made, it illustrates a Standard Oil Company of California policy: To support local businesses and communities with local purchases.

The Chilkat clan was one of the more than 18,000 suppliers who filled our exploration, producing, manufacturing, transportation, research and our marketing requirements last year.

Our annual shopping list is more than 50,000 items long, and it helps many a small, local business to prosper.

Yes, even the money Standard pays for this space in your newspaper is another example of local spending. By bringing dollars into your community, it also helps you.

Planning ahead to serve you better

Reminders have been sent out that interested persons may make plans to attend the Nevada State Motel Association Motel workshop and convention at the University of Nevada, Reno, March 1-3.

Included in the registration fee of $15, motel owners and managers who register prior to 5 p. m. Sunday, March 1 are assured of a complimentary cocktail hour sponsored by Harolds Club and the Patti Page dinner show sponsored by the Sparks Nugget. Reno area motels will provide without charge lodging for those attending. Douglas Cooper is chairman of the workshop and convention.

Because so many have asked about room tax—the State Legislature has shown no interest in the tax as a source of state revenue, and no state room tax bill has been presented. A report by the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Revenue and Taxation issued in April, 1963 mentions that 28 states have a room tax, but does not recommend it. Counties cannot enact the tax on a county-wide basis as the law states "such tax when levied by the legislative body of a county shall apply only to the unincorporated areas of the county. Simultaneous action by a county plus every city within the county would be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Isberg of Kings Beach have announced the engagement of their daughter, Vicki, to James Biggs of Carnelian Bay, James is the son of Mrs. William Biggs.

Vicki is a senior at Tahoe Truckee High. James is employed with his brother in the Biggs Lumber Company at Carnelian Bay.

A November wedding is planned.

Now it can be told. The Riviera Resort Shops, Kings Beach and Tahoe City, have been purchased from John Palmer by Alfred and Alice Stubblefield of Stockton. The transaction was completed this week according to Bob Garrow of Kings Beach who handled the sale.

The Stubblefields plan to maintain the same operation, and have set a May 1 opening. The traditional champagne opening will be observed. However, the Stubblefields plan a number of innovations in taking over the the operation of the shops.

They come to the Riviera Shops with a wide business background. For the past several years they have owned and operated five beauty salons in Stockton and prior to that were in business in Los Angeles. Residence in Kings Beach will be established in April in their new home.

Stubblefield is a member of the Kiwanis Club in Stockton and anticipates coming to Lake Tahoe as a resident.

Gil Richmond and son Jeff have moved into a new home at Incline Village. Gil's wife, Doris, and son Billy, will follow soon to join the family's new home. Gil has accepted the position of office manager at the Crystal Bay Development Company at Incline Village.

A crab feed was enjoyed by members of the North Tahoe Sierra Elks Club No. 2140 at their club house on the Tahoe City golf course Friday night. One hundred and five attended the dinner with other guests joining the party later. One hundred and fifty pounds of crab meat was served and the sauce was prepared by none other than the club's exalted ruler, Fred Schultz. Guests pronounced the sauce a gourmet's delight. Unexpected highlight of the evening was live music provided by Pat Vanni, Denny and Slim.

Gary and Marty Prescott of Davis were weekend guests of Mart's father, Dr. Walton Prescott at Kings Beach.

Larry Zimmerman of Walnut Creek and Carlo Dotson of Martinez were Saturday visitors to Lake Tahoe and the ski resorts where they enjoyed the day skiing. Visited friends at Tahoe Vista where Carol was employed last summer. Carol is now employed at the University of California at Berkeley.

Harry McIntire, Jr. of Tahoe Vista suffered a fractured arm recently. Still in a cast but able to work at Alpine Meadows on weekends which he enjoys very much.

RECORD HIGHS FOR BANK ARE REPORTED

A procession of record highs attained last year was reported to Bank of America's shareholders at their annual meeting at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco January 21.

President Rudolph A. Peterson announced that the bank added some 170,000 new accounts last year to bring the total number to over seven and three-quarters million.

Keeping pace with the rapid growth of California, 31 new branches were opened, bringing the year-end total to 850 domestic branches.

BankAmericard revealed its most successful year with sales and cash advances totaling $110.6 million, an increase of 31 per cent over 1962. There was a net increase of more than 150,000 card holders, bringing the number of Californians holding BankAmericards to more than one and a quarter million. More than 38,000 business establishments now participate.

President Peterson noted that the bank's growth is not confined just to California and the nation. The bank's business increased substantially on six continents.

FUND DRIVE OPENED IN LOCAL PARISHES

Father Patrick Coffey of the Truckee Assumption Church and Father Anthony Maio of Corpus Christi Catholic Church at Tahoe are taking active rolls in the Bishop's annual development fund campaign to meet needs for the construction and restoration of facilities in the Sacramento Diocese.

Bishop Alden J. Bell last week announced the inauguration of a long-range program for fund raising. A yearly diocesan-wide campaign will be conducted until the needs, in order of their urgency, can be met, the bishop said.

A minimum goal of $1,000,000 has been set for the 1964 drive now being organized in the 87 parishes of the Sacramento Diocese.

Six objectives were included in the program including construction of more Catholic high schools and expansion of existing ones; expansion of St. Pius X seminary at Galt; construction of the Newman Club facilities; interior renovation of the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrameno; erection of a home for the aged; and increase diocesan direction and service for religious instruction classes.

Nancy Watts Is Wed In Church Ceremony

Miss Nancy Watts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Reams of Gateway Park and Ross Wallace Stockwell, III, were united in marriage at a candle light ceremony performed by Rev. Franklin Evans January 26 in the United Church of Christ at Squaw Valley.

The bride who was given in marraige by her father was lovely in an imported French silk gown with a bouffant veil, decorated with tiny seed pearls. Her bouquet was composed of white gardenias.

Bridal attendants were Nancy's cousins, Mrs. Norman Marks of Sacramento, the matron of honor and Mrs. Melvin Ross of Carmichael. Sarah Lorvan was the flower girl.

Melvin Anderson of Los Angeles acted as best man, ushers were Ronald Wes of Los Angeles and Leonard Watts.

Blue-green brocade taffeta gowns were chosen by the bridal attendants, the flower girl wore blue velveteen, all carried nosegay roses.

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zeph Rose of Gateway Park, attended by relatives and friends from southern California, San Francisco and valley points as well as Truckee.

A tiny bouquet of roses topped the four tiered wedding cake, created by Mrs. Barbara Eckerman.

The newlyweds are at home in Santa Barbara following a week at Carmel, Mrs. Stockwell resuming her studies at the University of California at Santa Barbara where she is obtaining her master's degree.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wallace Stockwell, Jr., of Twenty Nine Palms is employed as a commercial artist with a large company.

OFFICE AT CUTTHROAT AND FOX

SNYDER IN RACE

Snyder declared:

"I know that I am fully qualified to properly administer the duties of judge, particularly with a background of legal knowledge accumulated during the 21 years that I was associated with the California Highway Patrol, both as traffic officer and sergeant.

In the latter capacity, I was for some years assigned to the office of Governor Goodwin Knight, and following that assignment served for five years in charge of the Truckee substation. The duties involved in both these appointments gave me an excellent opportunity to observe the functions of various courts, to become acquainted first hand with the problems of law violators and to recognize the needs of various enforcement agencies.

"In the latter there must be a close liaison between the court and the several agencies, including the office of district attorney, in order to insure that justice will apply equally to all parties involved and in all cases.

"It is my firm opinion that a judge must administer justice fairly and on an impartial basis. I believe also that the judge is a servant of the people and as such must be available to the people in all cases requiring court action. I feel the judge must be free to obligations or incumberances that would tend to influence the rendering of a fair decision in cases that come before him.

"As you know, in order to qualify as a candidate for this elective office, the applicant must either be an attorney or mlst pass a qualifying examination given by the judicial council. I legally qualified at Auburn on October 30, 1963.

"In summary, I therefore give as my platform the following: availability to the public, an ample knowledge of legal procedure, liaison between court, law enforcement agencies and the public, and above all fair and impartial justice in all cases."

Squaw Apartments

Jack Knorpp of Weldswood Structures and manager of Crystal Shroes at Incline Village, is the manager in charge. The building will be jointly developed by the Squaw Valley Land and Livestock Company and Weldswood Structures.

The immediate proposal is for 40 units of a cluster type around common game areas, barbecue, swimming pool, etc. The first units will be two bedroom, two baths, kitchen, living room with stone fireplace in fourplex arrangements.

The apartments, according to developers, in the luxury class, with three bedroom and studio units considered on demand. A unique convertible feature will be provided so that each apartment can be divided into two separate units by closing one door. Thus the leasor can have two rental units, one studio apartment and one bedroom, living room apartment.

A separate office has been provided in the Squaw Valley shopping center for the project.
